Testimonials

Biologics World Taiwan 2026 was an exceptionally well-organized and insightful conference, bringing together key industry leaders and fostering meaningful discussions on the future of biologics development. I truly enjoyed the opportunity to share our work and exchange ideas with fellow experts.

President & CEO

CHO PHARMA

& STEMCELL

The conference provided an excellent platform for deep technical exchange in regenerative medicine. I was impressed by the quality of discussions and the professional organization.

CTO

STEMCELL BioTech

It was truly my honor to be part of the 13th Biologics World Taiwan. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to you and the IMAPAC team for the invitation and the seamless organization. I also found the event highly informative and personally gained a lot of valuable insights from the other sessions and discussions.

APAC Medical Lead, Rare Diseases - Global Rare Diseases

Chiesi Global Rare Diseases

Excellent networking, important decision makers present, good topics for presentations, everything very well organized. The crowd was good & attentive, and also asked many questions.

Business Development Manager

Merck

Insightful sessions and all the speakers are excellent.

About the Event

Taiwan's biologics sector is moving into a more globally connected phase of growth. With national priorities increasingly focused on AI-enabled precision health, international market access, stronger CDMO and smart-manufacturing capabilities, and a more integrated biomedical innovation ecosystem, the opportunity is shifting from developing promising science to translating it into scalable, high-quality and globally competitive biologics. At the same time, large-molecule pipelines are becoming more complex, spanning next-generation antibodies, ADCs, bispecific and multispecific therapeutics, novel proteins, and advanced therapy biologics. Now in its 14th year, Biologics World Taiwan 2027 returns as the annual meeting point for Taiwan and the region's biologics community, connecting biopharma and biotech leaders across discovery, process development, manufacturing, CMC, clinical development, regulatory strategy and commercialisation. The 2027 programme follows the biologics journey from molecule innovation to global market readiness. Across two focused conference days, it will address next-generation modalities, upstream and downstream excellence, AI-enabled and data-driven bioprocessing, process intensification, analytical and quality strategies, CMC and technology transfer, clinical translation, evolving regulatory pathways and international market access. Biologics World Taiwan 2027 brings the industry together to turn biologics innovation into scalable manufacturing, successful clinical development and global market opportunities.
